The charge against ex-President Pierce, we presume, will be found to be all unfounded; and that he has no connection with any secret order for any political purpose. He is a Union man, in our opinion, and one who will be found without reproach. Perhaps the investigation will show that, after the fall of Sumpter, he was still desirous of negotiation, and that he sought to have an informal conference with the rebel leaders to see if the Union could not be restored on honorable terms. That much will be found, we expect, and no more. So much at least will stand to the credit of his heart, if not to his head. Kentucky was never divided; but she clung to the hope of compromise, and that was against hope; and she would not support any reasonable terms which would not be humiliating to any but leading rebels and Abolitionists.

This war will never end by the consent of either of these reasonable factions. The people have to settle this matter in spite of them.

Jeff. Davis was Pierce's Secretary of War, and it is natural that he should still have some confidence in his quondam friend. We think it quite possible that he has more confidence in Davis than is warranted, and more faith in the patriotism of these rebel leaders than facts will justify; but that he feels any sympathy with their deeds, we don't believe.

The Abolitionists, however, will assail every man who seeks an adjustment by a compromise. It is precisely what they don't want. They feel more horror of it than they do of war. They had rather other people would die in the last ditch than the old Union of our better days should be restored. We may look out for a clamor against every man North who is not for crushing out and subjugating; who seeks only for an execution of the laws and an acknowledgment of the Constitution, and who is ready to bring that about by any possible means.

As a matter of self-respect, however, we shall not again ask the Government to offer any terms to the armed rebellion. Indeed, Kentucky has done enough for these rebels. She remonstrated with them, entreated them, and protested against their conduct. She offered terms in the Senate, and pressed them, with the most anxious solicitude, and when it came to a vote they were defeated.

25 to 28—and there sat six of these leading rebels, refusing to vote, who might have prevented a defeat; but they refused to vote; and after themselves defeating our efforts, they telegraphed home the lie that no adjustment could be had. After all, in the midst of treachery to the cause, and in the midst of constant threats from these rebels, she refused to engage voluntarily in the war, still insisting on a compromise in the midst of jeers, jibes and insults from the very men she desired to save from the calamities they were bringing on themselves and her. Kentucky only drew the sword when they invaded her soil and left her no alternative but to support the Government or the rebellion. With the impudence of Satan himself they demand that we should take up arms in support of a crime against which she had most solemnly protested, or be conquered and subjugated by King Cotton.

Now, we say to these rebels, lay down your arms and obey the laws; these are all the terms left now; and if you don't do it voluntarily, we shall do it for you in making you do it.

It would be very convenient to the States South of us to make Kentucky the border to be despoiled by wars for centuries, got up by the ignorance, incapacity and ambition of King Cotton. We shall never submit to such insolence. Kentucky will not be the border. She will have no hostile neighbors North or South of her. She will have no boundary but the ocean. This is her essential interest now, and in all time to come, and the Kentuckian who would consent to less is ignorant of the history of nations. He doesn't see the way of manifest destiny, or he is a traitor to the present and future generations in Kentucky. After we have done our whole duty to the people South, in seeking for terms of settlement to save bloodshed, and got no thanks for it, we say we have no terms to offer or to insist on until arms are laid down; and don't intend to submit to any further impertinence.

And we say, emphatically, no compromise with an armed rebellion. For the interests of peace and humanity hereafter, we demand an unconditional surrender of all armed rebellion. After that, we shall insist upon honorable terms, not before. We do not expect this surrender of the great conspirators in this rebellion. They sit in luxurious ease, in high stations, in the gratification of an unholy ambition.

Falling, these positions and all others creditable to themselves must be forfeited. With the tenacity of death they will cling to the spoils, and exhort other people to die in the last ditch, to burn and destroy their property. It is the only alternative to save themselves from the last ditch. Whilst, then, we have no compromise to offer rebels, nor do they ask any, it is quite different with Southern people. They have no interest in this fight. It is to them an unwarmed calamity, and success in the effort would be the greatest of calamities. For them we shall insist on compromise, and if must be granted. Those who resist it are the enemies of good Government.

Any faction North or South that must have its way or nothing cannot be listened to. If our fathers had indulged such a spirit, this Government would never have existed. The same spirit which dictated concessions at the commencement, must sustain the man who will be intrusted with the restoration of Union and harmony, or Union and harmony will never exist.

What, should the fanatic North, shall we

MEASURES. Oils & Co. received a very large shipment of millinery goods yesterday,

by express, from their house in New York.

The shipment consists of a beautiful lot of

white rose wreaths, suitable for the Easter

AMUSEMENTS.

THEATRE.—To-morrow evening Mrs. Welch Edwards

will present, and present an exceedingly attractive bill. We trust she may have a crowded house, for she is one of the most deserving actresses in the present

company, and her company we have had. She is always ready with her part, and in point of talent, is really worthy of praise. Read the bill, secure your seats and fill the house.

(By the Clothes-line.)

The "Seesee" yesterday received a dispatch—the first in three days—that Gen.

Pope, at New Madrid, had been completely cleared out, but the dispatch, as usual,

gave no particulars, and none of the

"Seesee" who were not grasping for something to swallow, put any truth in it, or paid any attention to it. They are pretty well disgusted with the operations of the clothes line.

BURGOLARY, &c.—Burglary and smoke-

house robbery seem to be a favorite amusement with some of the Bourbon county

gentry. Last Saturday night the dwelling of Mr. Alexander, near Paris, was entered,

and a pocket-book stolen; a few nights

previous, Mr. George Parker, in Paris, lost in the same way a fine gold watch and some money.

The smoke-house of George H. Ament

was broken open Saturday night, and some twenty pieces of bacon cut down. The family heard the noise, and secured the thieves, who proved to be two negroes.

They were tried, and received each thirty-nine lashes. The smoke-house of John D.

Horne was entered the next night, and seventeen pieces stolen.

The same night an attempt was made to rob the drug store of Mr. Conway, in Millennburg, but failed.

The barn of Robert Tarr was destroyed by fire the same night. Loss, $800. Incentiendium.

The Citizen says that two strangers, white men, went into the house of Mr. Asa Hall,

in Bourbon county, a short time since, who was sick in bed, and robbed him of a small sum of money. They informed him of their purpose, and coolly told him that he was too sick to prevent them. Such unmitigated rascals deserve the rope.

"The worst men in the Southern Confederacy," said Parson Brownlow, the other day, to an assembly of people, "are the preachers. When they become Secesh

they bid farewell to honesty, truth and decency." "The worst men in the North

"are the preachers." Those who became political abolitionists "bid farewell to honesty, truth and decency." When they of the North and the South abandoned the holiness of their profession for the strife

of politics, they made themselves "the worst men in the nation. At their door,

more than at any other, lays the crime of investigating this war. They filled the hearts

of their respective people with hatred,

malice and all uncharitableness towards

THURSDAY EVENING, APRIL 1, 1892.
Present, Messrs. Shanks and Messrs. Downing, Murphy, Osborne, Jefferson, Terry, Barrett, Brown, and Baird.

The reading of the journal of the previous meeting was dispensed with.

The Engineer's report on the grade of Franklin street, from the bridge to Buchanan street, was referred to the Street Committee of the Eastern District.

The report of the keeper of the Workhouse, of expense, &c., for the month of March, was filed.

A claim of C. O. Mills for $91, for medicine furnished, was referred to the Committee on Public Works.

Alderman Osborne was excused from the consideration of the Mayor in regard to the ferry land.

Alderman Terry, from Committee on Taverns and Coffeehouses, E. D., was excused from the petition of C. B. Russell for a coffeehouse license.

Alderman Murphy, from the same Committee, reported separate resolutions from the Common Council granting the following licenses, which were adopted:

S. S. Clark, coffeehouse, Market st., between First and Second streets;

Silas F. Miller & Co., tavern license, corner Main and Second streets;

Michael A. Metz, transfer of C. C. Comber's coffeehouse license;

NEWMOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU FOR WEAKNESSES

Arising from Excesses, Habits of Dissipation, Early Indiscretion or Abuse.

ATTENDED WITH THE FOLLOWING SYMPTOMS:

Impotency to Erection; Trembling; Loss of Memory; Pain in the Back; Horrible Discharge; Bruising of the Body; Impaired Vision; Painful Urination; Pruritus of the Skin; Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System.

These symptoms, if allowed to go on, will this medicine invariably remove, soon follow.

IMPOTENCY, FATIGUE, EPILEPTIC FITS, In one of the patient may exist. Who can say that they are not frequently followed by these "dreadful diseases?"

Insanity and Consumption.

Many are aware of the cause of their suffering, but none will confess. The records of the Insane Asylums and the melancholy deaths by Consumption, bear ample witness to the truth of the assertion.

THE CONSTITUTION ONCE AFFECTED WITH ORGANIC WEAKNESS.

Requires the aid of medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU invariably does. A trial will convince the most skeptical.
